Horrible Accident Results in Death

This morning while standing on an upstairs porch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Knox, corner High and Sycamore streets, where she had apartments, Mrs. Annie Chenault Fox, widow of G. T. Fox, in some manner lost her balance and fell to the ground, a distance of about fifteen feet. Mrs. Fox sustained a fractured skull and both arms were broken in the fall, in addition to severe cuts and bruises about the face and body. She was removed at once to the Mary Chiles Hospital, where death came at two o'clock to relieve her suffering.

Mrs. Fox had been in poor health for a number of months and her extremely nervous condition is thought to have been the cause of her losing her balance. She was a sister of Mrs. Nannie Bridgforth and J. W. Chenault and the mother of Dave Fox and Mrs. Warren Stoner, all of this city. Mrs. Fox belonged to one of the oldest and foremost families of Kentucky and was a lovely woman, widely known and admired for her personal charm and her sad ending is deeply regretted by scores of relatives and friends throughout this entire section.

Mrs. Fox was the daughter of Daniel and Virginia Chenault, deceased, who many years ago came from to this county from Madison county. She was of an illustrious family whose posterity is now found in the state in high position. Mrs. Fox was a faithful member of the Christian church and as she had lived a big-hearted woman close to the hearts of others, so the end came to a woman greatly loved by kindred and friends.

JIM MURPHY WINS AUTO RACE

Jimmy Murphy, of Los Angeles, Cal., winner of the French grand prix in 1921, won the 500-mile automobile race at the Indianapolis Speedway on Memorial Day before a record-breaking crowd of 155,000. Murphy won $28,000 in cash prizes.

The time was 5:17:30:75, an average of 91.48 per hour, a world's record for the distance. It was the first time in the history of the event that a winner led from start to finish.

Harry Hartz, also of Los Angeles, finished second, four laps behind the winner. Hartz won $10,000. Eddie Hearne was third.

Murphy drove a remarkable race, taking the lead at the start and holding it throughout. He made only three stops during the entire 500 miles, each time to change tires and replenish his fuel tanks. Murphy was fortunate in not having any motor trouble. It was announced that his total winnings, together with cash prizes and money from accessory companies, would reach $35,000.

Ralph de Palma, a former winner of the event and holder of the record for the distance, finished fourth. Jules Ellinghoe, driving for Ora Halbe, was fifth. Ellinghoe's own car was forced out of the race soon after the start, when he lost a wheel.

The record Murphy smashed was made by de Palma in 1915, when he covered the distance in 5:33:55:51, an average of 89.84 miles per hour.

Jerry Wonderlich finished sixth and I. P. Fetterman seventh.

Eighth place went to Ira Vail, another veteran, while Tom Alley finished ninth.

Col. Henry L. Stone Yields to Inevitable

Word was received here from Louisville announcing the death of Colonel Henry L. Stone a former lawyer of the Mt. Sterling bar, who died at his Louisville home yesterday afternoon. Colonel Stone was past 80 years of age.

Funeral services will be held at his home in Louisville at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning and the body will be taken to Lexington for burial in the family lot in the Lexington cemetery, arriving there on the 11:10 o'clock C. & O. train Friday morning.

Mr. Stone, who was one of the state's leading attorneys, retired as general counsel of the L. & N. in April, 1921. He was twice city attorney of Louisville.

He was born in Bath county, near Sharpsburg, and began practice of law in Putnam county, Indiana, but left there to join the battalion of Major Robert G. Stoner, of the Confederate army, which was united with Major W. C. P. Breckinridge's battalion to form the Ninth Kentucky Cavalry under the command of General Morgan.

He practiced law in Owingsville after the war, and became county attorney of Bath county after serving six months as police judge of Owingsville. He served a term in the legislature before moving to Mt. Sterling to practice law, where he was a partner of the lamented Judge Richard Reid and went from here to Louisville in 1885. After serving as city attorney of Louisville he became general counsel for the L. & N. railroad in 1905. As city attorney he was instrumental in collecting $500,000 in back taxes, and as general counsel he served for a time as chairman of the association of council for railroads, being frequently called on to argue cases before the United States supreme court.

Colonel Stone attained to greatness on account of legal lore and the tenacity manifested in his practice. While a leading lawyer and citizen, he was also a devout member of the Christian church. Colonel Stone is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pamela Lane Bourne Stone, and daughter, Miss Mae Stone.

Rail Laborers to Vote on Strike

The executive council of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers yesterday afternoon unanimously adopted a resolution instructing E. F. Grable, president, to send out strike ballots to all members of the organization and all non-union workers in the crafts affected by the wage cut ordered by the United States Railroad Labor Board Sunday.

President Grable announced that ballots would be sent out immediately and that if the workers decided to strike in protest against the cut, the walkout would be effective July 5. He estimated that 478,000 members of the union and about 72,000 non-union workers would be asked to vote on the matter, virtually every railroad in the country with the exception of short lines and electric roads being affected.

Mr. Grable expressed the belief that other railroad brotherhoods also would conduct referendums within the near future and declared if the others voted to strike the maintenance of way men would join them, even in the members of his organization favored such action.

Soldier Bonus Bill Favorably Reported

The commonly known McCumber soldier bonus plan was ordered favorably reported yesterday by the senate finance committee. The vote was 9 to 4.

The effective date of the bill was changed, however, from next October 1 to January 1, 1923, after Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, told the majority that it would take six months to get the bonus machinery in operation.

The Smoot plan providing for paid up life insurance in lieu of all other forms of compensation was defeated by a vote of eight to five, the three Democrats, Simmons, Walsh and Gerry, voting against it, joined by McCumber, Curtis, Watson, Sutherland and LaFollette, Republicans.

Senator McLean broke the tie that has existed among the Republican members on the vote to report the McCumber plan, which is the house bill with some amendments, including elimination of the land settlement or reclamation project. Senators said reclamation was not discussed, although house leaders and senate supporters of reclamation have urged that the Smith-McNary reclamation bill or some similar legislation be attached to the bonus measure.

Several of the majority members of the committee gave notice to Chairman McCumber that they would oppose laying aside the tariff bill for senate consideration of the house at any time in near future. Senator McCumber replied that he intended to get as prompt consideration of the bonus bill as could be worked out, but did not state whether the tariff measure would be laid aside.

WAR PROFITEERS PERPETRATE MONOPOLIES UNDER McCUMBER TARIFF.

The favoritism to the big interests so obvious in the rate of the McCumber Tariff Bill is also revealed in the speech of Senator King (Dem., Utah), who made the most exhaustive and brilliant argument on the chemical schedule, a subject which he handled with such ability, comprehensive knowledge and skill in presentation as to win the admiration of his Senate colleagues on both sides. In this respect he said:

"I have said before and I repeat now, without any desire to be offensive or critical of my good friend from New Jersey (Mr. Frelinghuysen), a member of the Finance Committee, that in my opinion, after the hearings were closed at which the minority members were permitted to be present, the committee had no right to hear testimony either for or against the schedule unless the minority members were present or were invited to be present. I charge that the committee received Mr. du Pont, who was interested in the dye monopoly, and talked with representatives of the Carbide Trust and others after the hearings were closed; and no Democratic members were permitted to be present."

Concerning these big interests and their attitude toward their own government. Senator King said:

WM. CRAVENS

"I have charged, and charge again, with respect to this chemical schedule, one which affects practically every industry and manufacturing concern of the country, because the articles are of a fundamental or primary character and constitute the bases of thousands of finished products, that this chemical schedule has been drawn in the interest of the chemical producers of the United States, in order that they may perpetuate monopolies which they have organized and exert from the people hundreds of millions of dollars annually, as they did during the progress of the war."

In the discussion of these schedules, I shall point to articles where the manufacturers in the United States charged our own Government and the people during the war 2,000 and 3,000 and 4,000 per cent above pre-war prices. There was absolutely no limit to their greed and their capacity and their avarice. They would rob and plunder their own Government as they would rob and did rob the American people, and many of the chemical manufacturers in the United States are seeking by this bill to perpetuate their power and opportunity to plunder the American people in the future as they plundered them during the war."

A Hot Springs, Ark., publication says: "From the resolutions passed by the preachers in conference here for the past few weeks, they seemingly regard the rising generation as a falling one."

TOBACCO STRAINS PRODUCED TO CHECK SERIOUS DISEASE

Root rot, a disease held responsible for immense losses suffered each year by burley tobacco growers, can be controlled by use of strains of tobacco which are resistant or immune to the disease, according to a circular describing such strains which has just come off the press at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

Resistant strains having quality at least equal to that of commonly grown varieties already have been produced on the station farm, the publication states.

Although held to be one of the most serious diseases affecting tobacco, root rot is recognized by comparatively few growers as a distinct disease, the publication points out. The disease rots the roots as they develop and although it does not kill the plants entirely, many of them are seriously stunted by it. Symptoms of the trouble commonly are attributed to lack of rain, low soil fertility, or the fact that tobacco is "hard" on land. The fungus causing the disease has been found in a majority of the white burley fields examined during the last two years, the publication states.

A total of 26 strains of white burley have been tested, these being the result of 16 selection of Judy's Pride and 10 selections of Vimont Kelley, all made from severely diseased fields because they showed signs of being highly resistant at the time of selection. Fifteen of the 16 Judy's Pride selections proved resistant while the ten selections of Vimont Kelley, which have been tested one year, all have proved highly resistant.

On new land, as good results should be obtained with the resistant varieties as can be obtained from common.

grown ones with the added advantage of uniformity, making topping and grading easier. On diseased land or that which has grown a single crop of tobacco, the value of the resistant varieties is unquestioned, the publication concludes. Copies of it may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station for Circular No. 28.

MANY APPLICATIONS FOR DUST-EXPLOSION EXHIBIT

As a result of the exhibit illustrating the prevention of dust explosions shown by the United States Department of Agriculture at the meeting of the National Fire Protection Association, at Atlantic City, May 8 to 11, other requests for its use have been received from various sources. Secretary Wallace has approved a request from Pennsylvania Industrial Board for its use at the ninth annual convention of the Govermental Labor Officials of the United States and Canada, to be held at Harrisburg, May 22, to 26. It will also be used at the Mass Convention of Millers to be held under the auspices of the Millers' National Federation at Kansas City, Mo., May 31 to June 2.

The exhibit is available for the use of associations or similar organizations interested in the prevention of losses from dust explosions or fires. Requests should be sent to the office of Exhibits, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Hail Destroys Millions of Dollars of Tobacco

May Get Yours Any Day

The loss of tobacco by hail in this and other tobacco states within the last five years has run up into millions of dollars with only a small part covered by insurance. Yet, the amount of insurance received by growers who had the foresight thus to protect themselves against such loss, was enormous and should make every grower not only feel that the necessity of insuring his tobacco crop against hail storms loss but to do that very thing and do it at once.

Dr. Samuel H. Halley, of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, upon congratulating an insurance company on lowering its rates on tobacco hail insurance, said: "Within the period that I have had hail insurance I have had four severe losses. The more I received exceeded considerably what I paid in, to say nothing of my peace of mind that I was fully protected in case of a storm. I have always advocated carrying hail insurance on tobacco without which every grower takes a chance to lose all. With it he can, in safety, go into the business of producing a crop which requires, as does tobacco, so much labor, time and money."

Now that the Burley Growers have gone into an organization to handle their business in a modern economic business-like way, I see no reason why all growers can not take out insurance on the reduced rates the companies are now quoting. Look up the insurance agent in your section now, and let him protect you against the loss of your tobacco. Policies effective July 10th, noon.

KENTUCKY WOOL IN DEMAND ON TWO DIFFERENT POINTS

Kentucky wool is liked by wool dealers and manufacturers because of its light shrinkage and freedom from dirt and chaff, according to L. J. Horlacher, in charge of sheep work at the College of Agriculture. The majority of the state's wool crop, which totals more than two and one-half million pounds, is graded as quarter-blood and three-eighths blood, he said.

"The common mountain sheep produce very coarse, light fleeces grading as quarter-blood, low quarter-blood and common. Last year, in some instances, this low quarter-blood and common wool sold for only two-thirds as much a pound as the quarter-blood and three-eighths blood,

"The two latter grades are produced by the Hampshire, Shropshire, Oxford and Southdown purebreds and grades. A purebred ram of one of these breeds when bred to a common ewe usually will improve the fleece of the offspring sufficiently to raise it from low quarter to quarter-blood, thereby increasing its value one-third to one-half on the basis of the 1921 prices."

FEAR A MENACE TO CHILDREN

It is surprising how many children leave their homes to enter into a larger social sphere with fear instilled into their thoughts. If all mothers could realize that fear is a most menacing disease surely fewer children would enter the kindergarten with trembling.

Most kindergarten or primary teachers have at some time felt the pang of seeing a child show fear. Frequently teacher wonders why she does not win the whole-hearted, loving response which most children so readily give to the efforts of a sympathetic friend. No child can give his best attention when there is present a dread of what might happen if he makes a mistake. Be that sensation of fear ever so vague, it will check ready expression of the thoughts and retard natural, normal, mental development.

All teachers and public welfare workers will testify that many parents and relatives threaten children with various direful punishments to be administered by policemen, doctors, teachers, goblins and numerous imaginary things.

A five-year-old boy entered a primary room in September. His eyes were weak. That, however, did not explain his evident fear of the teacher. If she approached him to help him he invariably crouched to one side and never once responded with more than a questioning half smile to her efforts to put him at ease. Of course, she called upon the child's mother. During the conversation the mother said, "We want him to mind and we told him that you would almost beat him to death if he didn't. I think he believes us, too."

She seemed quite proud that her boy would "obey" not seeming to consider that submission is not always discipline. To the teacher it was pitiful. The child's effort to see resulted in an inevitable nervous strain. Through fear of consequences if he answered questions incorrectly he was no doubt silent at times when he could have responded. And he probably made other mistakes by his nervousness.

It is not only teachers who must contend with consequences of such a course. A few days ago I saw a child who was ill scream and pull the covers over her head as the physician neared the bed. "If you don't hush the doctor will grab your tongue," said the mother. Of course, the child's fear was only increased. Naturally it was impossible to accurately diagnose her case as she had worked herself into a serious nervous state.

Later the same physician remarked to me, "Why don't people teach children that we want to help, not hurt them?" He then cited many instances where the adults had threatened children with "the doctor" if they didn't obey. For obvious reasons such a course is very unfair to the physicians and the children who gain such harmful conceptions.

Every child should learn that unpleasant consequences inevitably follow certain actions. But to teach a child to fear individuals, real or fanciful, is an injustice to the child, to those who are to share the responsibility of guiding him and to each member of the society of which he becomes a part. It is through knowledge and not fear that he learns self-control and respect for principles of right and laws of society.—Bertha Mason.

Chicago is not alone in its tendency to seek the remedy of a sort of counter terrorism when in fear of a reign of terror.

Let Us Help You Get the Last Dollar's Worth of Service From Your Tires

Do you usually discard your tires when the tread first wears thru, feeling that no more service may safely be expected?

Sometimes this is the only thing to do, but often it is surprising the results you can get by a retread.

Retreading didn't use to be satisfactory. Aside from its being done with tires that weren't worth it, the average retread used to look so ugly that you would hate to have it on the car.

But when your next tire wears thru, bring it in to us.

We will examine it carefully and if a retread won't pay, we'll tell you so, because we don't want you to pay for something that we know won't be satisfactory.

If it is worth retreading, we'll make a price for the work and the chances are we'll have a sample of some finished work so you can see how hard it is to tell our retread from a new tire. Then you be the judge.

Retreads, properly applied, save buying new tires and give some of the lowest cost mileage you can buy.

American Legion News

Four years ago the words "over there" meant a boy away from home and loved ones; hardships, rain, mud, privations, fighting, wounds and perhaps death. In the "flapper dictionary" of today, according to the American Legion of Omaha, Neb., "over there" means a warning "that the girl lives too far to take a taxi!" The legion is trying to do something about it.

A second great vessel of the United States merchant marine now has the name American Legion. In renaming the so-called state boats after presidents, the shipping board made an exception in the case of the steamship Badger State, which was given the name American Legion instead. The fastest boat of the Munson line also is named after the service men's organization. In re-naming the boats, the shipping board undertook to rechristen the Leviathan, greatest American troop ship, after President Harding, who directed, however, that the giant liner retain the name she had during the doughboy days.

A straw vote on the subject of enforcement of the prohibition conducted by "The Legionnaire," official organ of the American Legion of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, showed that 62 per cent of the ex-soldiers were in favor of stricter enforcement of the dry law.

Whether the crown of best all-around athlete in the military forces of the United States shall rest on the head of a soldier, marine or sailor will be decided when the men from the three branches of the service meet in competition at the third annual track and field meet of the Philadelphia American Legion, June 9 and 10.

The last word in modern surgery is announced at Paris, France, where a French army surgeon has inserted an artificial tongue in the mouth of Sergeant Villia, a Verdun wounded war veteran. A shell tore away Villia's jaw but skillful surgery has now made him able to talk, sing and whistle.

When the S. S. New England was 160 miles at sea the bursting of a steam fire wounded Boyd O'Neal, a former sailor, in 17 places. Shipmates sewed O'Neal's abrasions with sail twine and three cornered sail needles, the rough sea surgery saving his life.

The $800,000 remaining unexpended following the payment of the New Jersey state bonus to former service men may be used by the American Legion for ex-soldiers who are or may become incapacitated.

The world owes us a living;
We hold this truth to be.
But ne'ertheless it always comes
To us marked C. O. D.

The oldest member of the American Legion is believed to be Colonel F. A. Bouteille, of Seattle, Wash., who recently retired from the regular army after 60 years' service. He is more than 80 years old.

Scores of fire stations, school houses and other municipal buildings leased by the city to the American Legion and other veterans' organizations are to be refitted to meet the ex-soldiers' needs following an order passed by the Boston, Mass., city council.

After furnishing an average of 550 former service men a month with jobs from which it is estimated they received in pay more than $50,000, the American Legion employment bureau at Seattle, Wash., has been closed due to the improved working conditions.

WERE YOU EVER BLUE?

Many of our gifted writers and authors, even though they have passed, have left behind cheering words. Among these illustrious writers and authors, James Whitcomb Riley appeals to us in verse as none ever has. If you are oppressed from any of the innumerable cause remember that somewhere there is a hand for your shoulder. Blues can be dispelled by that friend; they are. In this world of ours there is no room for blues, for there is an antidote for every ill. The Advocate has no blue days. The fact is, we are enjoying our part even to the brim, but there are others; others who feel they are on the road to the poor house; others who think the world has turned against them. For all such the immortal verse writer leaves the antidote. With it poverty turns into wealth; the world and its fullness are yours. Read Mr. Riley's "A Hand on Your Shoulder."

When a man ain't got a cent,
And he's feelin' kind of blue,
And the clouds hang dark and heavy
And won't let the sunshine through;
It's a great thing, oh, my brethren,
For a feller just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder
In a friendly sort o' way.

It makes a man feel curious,
It makes the teardrops start.
An' you sort o' feel a flutter
In the region of your heart.
You can't look up and meet his eyes;
You don't know what to say
When his hand is on your shoulder
In a friendly sort o' way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound,
With its honey and its gall,
With its cares and bitter crosses—
But a good world, after all.
And a good God must have made it—
Leastwise, that is what I say
When a hand is on my shoulder
In a friendly sort o' way.

JUST A WORD ABOUT OUR COMING FAIR

Mt. Sterling has never yet done things by halves and, in our minds, never will. It is needful, however, to drop a hint just here. All indications are evidences of the greatest fair here in the history of the county fairs. The trot, the races, the exhibitions of various stock, the poultry department, the Floral Hall not only look good, but that every department will be well filled with the sharpest competition. In addition the midway entertainment will be a drawing card, far in advance of what we have had and the music will be furnished by a band of the highest class of musical talent.

Such attractions bring crowds and we have only to hint the above facts in order that our people will open wide their doors on the question of entertaining the strangers who will be here during fair week.

We have consulted with Secretary N. A. Wilkerson and he tells us the drawing features of the fair will be great and that the people will be here from all directions.

The catalogues, now coming out through the Advocate job rooms, also bear evidence of the above facts. Our business people from territory adjacent as well as home show an interested spirit by taking liberal advertising space. Mt. Sterling is manifesting her accustomed civic pride; the fair company is making all features attractive and we can get ready for a great fair week.

NOT A CANDIDATE

In answer to an editorial in the Advocate of recent date in which we made favorable mention of Judge Robert W. Bingham, president and publisher of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, who would make a suitable candidate for the Democratic party of Kentucky to fill the responsible position of governor of Kentucky, Mr. Bingham says:

"My Dear Sirs: I have had the pleasure of reading your recent editorial entitled, "Who Will be the Next Governor of Kentucky?" and I want to thank you heartily for the very kind reference which you make of me. I enjoy and am grateful for such generous and kind expressions, but I am not a candidate and cannot be a candidate for any political office. I rejoice that I have had some part in work of constructive value to the state, and I believe that further efforts which I expect to make along this line would be greatly handicapped if I were personally involved in politics in any way, and for this reason I shall not be a candidate for any political office. With thanks and kindest regards, I am,

Sincerely yours

"R. W. BINGHAM."

This frank declaration gives a clear field to those aspiring to lead Kentucky to loftier heights.

MUSCLE SHOALS—HENRY FORD

As we see it, the congress of the United States should deal with Henry Ford in the Muscle Shoals matter. Ford will do something and the other parties would possibly close this matter forever, and give the capitalists of the east a continued corner on the manufacturing interests. Ford developments would turn the current of business southward, while other interests in the old expensive method would prevent it. Ford gives promise to marvelous developments.

Only Fair Prices to Be Charged for Spot Coal

Secretary Hoover yesterday assumed the responsibility for fixing a reasonable price on spot coal during the continuance of the present coal strike.

The announcement was made at a general conference with the operators.

The commerce secretary suggested the immediate appointment of committees representing each producing district to advise with him upon a fair price for coal in their respective districts. He also asked that these committees continue in existence and report to him, after the determination of a fair price, cases of unfair prices, and act at his request as might be necessary to meet such cases.

Mr. Hoover told the several hundred operators assembled at the meeting that the conference had been called by him at the request of President Harding to consult as to what means might properly be taken to restrain runaway coal prices due to the strike. He explained that the conference was not concerned with wages or other questions, but solely with the question of price and distribution of coal now being produced. Speaking of present conditions

DISASTROUS FIRE IN CLAY CITY

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Clay City Roller Mills, Mountz's garage and an adjoining blacksmith shop. The fire, starting in the flour mill, was discovered by workmen a few minutes after it started, but in the absence of fire fighting apparatus the flames spread rapidly and soon enveloped the three-story building. The loss at the mill was estimated at $15,000, with no insurance. The owners of the building were J. W. Swope, Thomas Swope and R. A. Jordan, of Winchester. The blacksmith shop was owned by John Kimball, who, while rushing to the scene of the conflagration in an automobile, ran over an embankment and wrecked the machine. He sustained slight injuries.

FRENCHBURG SCHOOL NEWS

The work of the Frenchburg school for the year 1921-1922 closed Wednesday evening, May 24. The commencement program was enjoyed by patrons and friends of the school.

On Sunday morning the audience had the privilege of listening to a strong sermon on Christian education by Rev. R. C. Evans. The operetta presented by the graded school on Monday evening was directed by Miss Frances Magee, teacher of music, and was enjoyed by a large audience.

On Tuesday evening six girls from the eighth grade participated in a declamation contest, in which three prizes were awarded in sums of $7, $5 and $3.

The first prize was awarded to Virginia Clark, second to Audrey Sowers and third to Ethel Buchanan. The contest throughout was of a high order and each contestant deserves commendation for excellent work.

The judges were Mrs. Mae Armitage, Mr. Cooper Williams and Dr. Taylor.

On Wednesday morning diplomas were presented to fourteen boys and girls who had completed the work of the eighth grade.

In the afternoon the audience was entertained by the school in a number of outdoor events, consisting of winding the may pole, drills, races and ball games.

The chief attraction was a ball game between Frenchburg school and a team from Mariba, in which the former won an easy victory. The closing number on the commencement program was the high school play given on Wednesday night.

The work of the members of the high school was well done and was highly commended by many who witnessed the play.

The large audiences in attendance at all of these programs is evidence of increasing interest in the work of the institution and is thoroughly appreciated by the management.

Most of the teachers have already returned to their home in California, Kansas, Missouri, Ohio and Pennsylvania for the summer vacation.

The superintendent and family are in attendance at the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church at Cambridge, Ohio.

Within a few weeks Prof. W. P. Gordon will leave for the Chicago University, where he will pursue a course in education.

BIBLE THOUGHTS FOR WEEK

SUNDAY

GLADNESS IN SERVICE:—Serve the Lord with gladness. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: he is thankful unto him, and bless his name. For the Lord is good.— Psalm 100: 2, 4.

MONDAY

A VERY NEEDFUL PRAYER:—Shew me thy ways, O Lord: teach me thy paths. Let integrity and uprightness preserve me: for I wait on thee.—Psalm 25: 4, 21.

TUESDAY

THE LOVE THAT SAVES:—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3: 16.

WEDNESDAY

REWARD OF THE RIGHTEOUS:—Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace.—Psalm 37: 37.

THURSDAY

PEACE AND SAFETY:—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26: 3.

FRIDAY

LOVE MASTERS FEAR:—There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear.—1 John 4, 18.

SATURDAY

A SURE SUPPORT:—The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms.—Duet. 33: 27.

Great nature never takes offense or give it. They determine that wise men will not insult them and fools can't.

And if you are good because you have to be, you don't deserve any credit.

WORLD'S GREATEST FINANCIER SAILS

Otto H. Kahn, expert on taxation and leader in the world of national and international finance, waved a cheery good bye to a few friends when he sailed for the other side last week. His mission? Mr. Kahn makes it a practice never to talk "before the fact." He discusses accomplishments.

A PEOPLE'S UNION IS NEEDED

Surely the people have lost in large measure the sense of their power and place in the world's affairs. There is need of a new awakening. It is almost pitiable to hear men and women discuss business conditions as though the business of the nation was something apart, some strange, mysterious machine operating without any relation to the individual. Perhaps the people are so close to the picture they fail to see that the retailer is the lord and master of the great distributor, and that the people are the lords and masters of every retailer on earth. If business is stagnant, the people make business stagnant. They can bring about business revival whenever they decide to do so. Humanity's weakness lies in the desire to "let George do it."

The people have come to accept the belief that their particular attitude or their personal action can have no bearing on anything, that it will be lost in the general result. Consequently everyone "lays down." It is this knowledge of public apathy that gives strength to the political leeches that suck the life-blood of the nation and, once fastened on to the body politic, are so hard to get rid of. If a leech revives when the people buy, then the retailer gets busy, the jobber gets busy, the manufacturer gets busy, and men and women become employed. Prosperity will come back when every man and woman acts as though the whole problem rests on his or her individual shoulders. There is no meeting place in which to arouse common action on behalf of the people, unless leadership be granted by the home town newspaper. The capitalist who can develop a workable people's union will have performed a great service.

OPPORTUNITY FOR BOYS

Twenty-five dollars for three weeks is what it costs a boy to attend Camp Roosevelt, conducted under the auspices of the Chicago board of education, near LaPorte, Indiana, and open to boys during the summer from all parts of the country. Enrollment early in May indicate the national reputation this camp has built up, and applications and inquiries are pouring into the headquarters from every state in the union. The reason is plain. It is open to any American boy of good character from the age of twelve years up. While scores of private vacation camps exist with the exclusive memberships and tuition running into the hundreds of dollars, Camp Roosevelt continues to operate on the pre-war basis of little over a dollar a day per cadet. The balance necessary for the maintenance of this large institution is supplied by public-spirited Chicago citizens, who yearly contribute the needed funds.

The camp is divided into three sections to meet the different needs of the boys. The summer school divisions includes seventh and eighth grade subjects and all high school subjects. Credits earned in the camp school are honored on the same basis as are those received in other Chicago summer schools, of which the camp school is an auxiliary. The R. O. T. C. or military division affords the boy outdoor life and health activities in abundance; while the junior camp places the younger boy among suitable companions of his own age.

Major F. L. Beals, U. S. A., commanding the camp, is in personal touch with all boys under his charge. They respect and admire him as a leader of the highest caliber, a friend and counselor rather than a stern, unapproachable commander. His long experience in boy education has made him an ideal head for such a big, democratic American institution, and he is never too busy to go thoroughly into each individual's case.

Nat Goldstein, who was dumped out of the Kansas City Post Office because he accepted $2,500 to boost Frank O. BRIEF COMMENT

The Chicago Tribune (Republican) says that "our action in Haiti was one of the creditable chapters in the history of Mr. Wilson's foreign policy." The question, however, is whether the emergency which was properly met by the Wilson administration in 1915 still exists.

Plitburg shoe dealers report that women's ankles are larger than they used to be. And yet living in the limelight is not supposed to be physically wholesome.

The Philadelphia Record wants to know whether "the recent boost in the price of gasoline has anything to do with the anti-saloon league's need for more campaign funds." The precise nature of the connection—if any—is best known to the elder Mr. John D.

The Bolsheviks will hate this land of capitalists more than ever now that they have failed to get a loan and the Harding administration stands by the Wilson administration position in regard to recognition.

Supreme Court Justice McKenna is quoted as saying, ineffect, that the United States is trying to run the universe and is breaking solemn treaty obligations in order to endorse prohibition. If this is not an exaggerated statement, we need not wonder at the Europeans who think Uncle Sam's head has been turned by the doings of his doughboys during the last months of the world war.

Headlines announce that Pinchot's victory in the Pennsylvania primaries is not only a "bitter dose to bosses," but that the old guard generally is "stunned" and "gloom is thick" at Washington because "waning power of the regulars" is seen in Inchot's victory following that of Beveridge. We'll see how it turns out, anyway. As a rule, most of us know what we are talking about only after the event.

Men in high places need both strength and astuteness to be able to turn from the foolish or designing flattery of friends. The president, even though prompted by the newspapers, has acted in his own interests as well as most creditably in rejecting the proposition that the far-famed Leviathan be renamed the Warren G. Harding.

Miss Sallie Lucas Jeans, director of the Child Health Organization of America, announces that 20 per cent of this country's school children are suffering from malnutrition, that 40 per cent of them never drink milk, and that 90 per cent of them never brush their teeth. It is manifestly impossible for such figures to be exact—they can be no more than the roughest sort of estimates—but the intelligent public will heartily agree

AN APPEAL FOR JUSTICE

After several weeks of most unpleasant rivalry between Mr. Espa Mace (red bus) and myself (yellow bus) and although having unjustly suffered heavy loss and feeling that I am entitled to the line which I built up after several months at quite an expense I applied to Mr. Mace for justice and reason, proposing to forgive and forget the past and for us to work out a change of schedule in good will and harmony. In the presence of witnesses he shook hands and promised to bury the hatchet, and thus made me believe that our past troubles had come to an end. I then offered him the use of our Paris Waiting Room and my friendly co-operation if he would agree to let his bus leave Paris about the same time that our bus leaves Mt. Sterling, and vice versa. This would give the public a perhaps needed and double service, and would test the need of a second bus on this line. However, unwilling to accept such a fair and liberal offer on my part, he persists in his former intentions to ruin me (if possible) by running his (red) bus a few minutes ahead of my schedule.

Our bus will operate in the future as before under the genial management of Robert Nixon, on the old schedule (until further advised), and at the old and reasonable rates. Please ignore any schedule put out last week.

We will ask our patrons to be at waiting points from 5 to 10 minutes ahead of schedule, as at times, in order to protect our interests our bus may leave a little ahead of schedule. Remember! The Sunday morning bus leaves Mt. Sterling on daily schedule—6:45 a. m., and Paris, 8:45 a. m. The midday trip is not made on Sundays. I again ask you good people to stand by me as you have done during the past, and let your actions show that the masses stand for "fair play." We shall conduct our business in a Christian-like spirit, with good will toward all, telling the truth without sling- ing of mind, and we are willing to leave our success in your hands.

Your patronage must decide as to which bus shall stay on the line. Yours very truly,

FRED WECKESSER, Proprietor

BELLA VISTA ADDITION

FORMER HOME OF RICHARD REID ROGERS

The Rogers Home and Fifty Beautiful Building Lots

AT AUCTION THURSDAY, JUNE 8, 1922, ON THE PREMISES

Bella Vista Addition needs no special introduction to Mt. Sterling people, being a part of their city, lying between High Street and Main Street and in line with their best residential growth.

The Rogers home, consisting of eight rooms, halls, presses, two baths, porches, etc., all in good repair, with electric lights, running water, and located in a bit of grand old forest with beautiful winding driveway. This Ideal home is up among the birds and flowers where you can enjoy all the beauties nature has to offer and yet be within a stone's throw of the activities of beautiful Mt. Sterling. This place ranks among Kentucky's best.

Bella Vista Addition has been replotted by running a new street known as White Boulevard, which connects High Street and Main Street and intersects Reid Avenue, thus giving the city a much needed thoroughfare. This new plot gets entirely away from the checkerboard system of city lots and adds to the beauty of the sub-division by giving a park-like arrangement, and makes every lot high and well drained and very desirable.

The city of Mt. Sterling will install lights and sanitary sewer the entire length of White Boulevard without cost to the abutting lot owners. The city will further cause said Boulevard to be paved with concrete or asphalt in a manner provided by law, and the undersigned will guarantee to each lot owner that the total cost of construction of said Boulevard will not exceed a given sum per front foot to be announced on the day of sale.

There will be other streets opened up in the sub-division that will be very attractive.

Here is indeed an opportunity to buy a lot or home site at your own price, as these lots must be sold absolutely to the highest bidder on day of sale.

There will be ample building restrictions to protect the purchasers.

We will also offer for sale at 3 p. m. on the same day, the former home of Tom Coons at 77 Sycamore Street. A real home newly papered and painted, consisting of eight rooms, spacious closets, bath, gas and running water. Sleeping porch, front and back stairs. Cistern on back porch. The lot is a young farm with grape arbors, fruit trees and garden space galore. If you are looking for a real home don't pass this one up.
